

Johnson Plans Meeting With Thieu to Strengthen Plans to End War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting on his pledge to pursue peace instead of politics, President Johnson announced Monday he hopes to meet soon with South Vietnam's president to "strengthen and improve our plans" for ending the war in Southeast Asia.

Johnson slipped quietly out of Washington while Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, the man now widely viewed as the new Democratic frontrunner, was predicting that "the Democrats can win in November."

Johnson turned up in Chicago, making to the National Association of Broadcasters his first speech since Sunday night's stunning announcement that he would not seek or accept re-election and would halt the bombing of most of North Vietnam.

Johnson appealed in Chicago for reason and unity "amid all the frenzy and emotion" of an election year. Then—in another departure from his prepared text—he disclosed his plan to confer in the United States with President Nguyen Van Thieu "sometime in the weeks ahead."

This it was presumed, is seen by Johnson as a possible forerunner of general peace talks with Thieu's foe, President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

Though this capital still was dizzy from the political blockbuster he dropped into a nationally televised address Sunday, other free world capitals hailed the new bid for peace.

One of them—London—began sounding out the Soviet Union. But the immediate reaction from Moscow seemed negative. The Soviet news agency, Tass, described the call for a peace conference as a maneuver that ignored North Vietnam's demand for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing.

And cautious U.S. officials foresaw much hard fighting immediately ahead in Vietnam before Hanoi responds clearly to Johnson's bid.

WEATHER

The forecast today indicates sunny skies and warmer temperatures with a high in the upper 40s or lower 50s.

TOM WICKER

President Johnson took office seeking a great society and found instead an ugly little war that consumed him.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

It should be a little warmer today with sunny skies and a high temperature reading near 55. It will become increasingly cloudy by tonight with a slight chance of showers or thundershowers and an over night low near 34. The outlook for Wednesday indicates considerable cloudiness, a high temperature reading near 55 again and a chance of showers. Winds today will be southerly 12 to 20 mph. Monday's 7 a.m. report: high 59; low 29; there was .74 inches of precipitation recorded. The river level was 4.3 feet and rising.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1310.35 feet. (Desired summer pool level 1328 feet; maximum 1365 feet). Downstream temperature 40 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 4.30 feet.

PENNSYLVANIA

Senate Republicans bypass action on a proposed $35 million teachers' salary bill and schedule meeting for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to consider the matter again.

A number of Pennsylvania Democrats profess privately to seeing a ray of light for their local candidates in the wake of President Johnson's announcement this week that he will not seek re-election.

The Allegheny National Forest hosts Tuesday a meeting called by the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to begin drawing up a recreation plan for the state.

State police and FBI arrest three men wanted for abducting two couples and shooting one man to death.

THE NATION

Texas Democrats, stunned by President Johnson's decision not to run, boom lame duck Gov. John Connally for favorite son presidential candidate in an effort to keep their state party in one piece.

President Johnson announces he hopes to meet soon with South Vietnam's president to "strengthen and improve our plans" for ending the war in Southeast Asia.

U.S. officials see much hard fighting immediately ahead in Vietnam before Hanoi gives any clear response to President Johnson's move to de-escalate the war in a broad new bid for peace talks.

President Johnson's decision not to bid for re-election leaves Democratic governors and national committeemen uncertain where they will turn. But many hope he will change his mind and run again and some look in the direction of Humphrey.

The Pentagon discloses plans for a three-phase call-up to bring about 60,000 reservists into active duty.

Congressional supporters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller urge him to hasten and expand his public discussion of major issues, arguing that the Republican party needs a full dialogue.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says he has asked President Johnson for an early meeting to discuss "how we might work together in the interests of national unity."

Uncertain Democratic Leaders Leaning Toward Humphrey

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's unexpected announcement removing himself as a candidate for re-election left many of the nation's Democratic governors and national committeemen uncertain where to turn Monday—but some were looking in the direction of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

These points emerged from a poll of Democratic leaders by The Associated Press:

A large percentage expressed hope that Johnson would be persuaded to change his mind, and a few talked of a draft.

The name most often mentioned as a possible alternative candidate was that of Vice President Humphrey.

Some leaders said it was possible their state delegations would go to the convention supporting favorite son candidates.

The Democratic leaders indicated they would give the matter of whom they will support for the nomination much thought before reaching a decision.

Kennedy Praises LBJ, Seeks Meeting With Him

NEW YORK (AP) — A solemn Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said Monday he has asked President Johnson for an early meeting to discuss "how we might work together in the interest of national unity."

The New York Democrat became a likely front-runner for his party's presidential nomination when Johnson stunned the world Sunday night by announcing he will not seek re-election.

Two weeks ago Kennedy opened what was then his challenge to Johnson by charging the President with responsibility for disunity and divisiveness in the United States.

But the tone was different Monday as Kennedy told a crowded news conference and a nationwide radio-television audience:

"The President's action reflects both courage and generosity of spirit."

Then he took to the campaign trail again for a busy tour of shopping centers in Philadelphia.

If he was jubilant about the apparent elimination of his main stumbling block to the nomination, Kennedy concealed it carefully in his half-hour appearance.

And he has cause for concern. He must ponder what his stand will be if Johnson's de-escalation, which Kennedy has advocated, fails—or what the Democratic National Convention will do if the peace step works.

Outdoor Recreation Bureau Holds Meeting Here Today

Allegheny National Forest is host today to a meeting called by the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, at the Research Center Laboratory at Buckaloons.

From 10 a.m. until noon there will be presentations and discussions. After lunch the group will tour the Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir area, and continue discussions in the field.

Purpose of the meeting is to begin drawing up a recreation plan for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, including both State and Federal recreation areas. To be explored at the meeting will be recreation facilities available and short and long range future plans in Allegheny National Forest, in order that these may be included in the over-all Pennsylvania outdoor recreation plan.

As explained by local U.S. Forest Service officials, this plan is required by the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in order to obtain development funds, including various matching funds.

The meeting is being coordinated by Bill Arnold, recreation staff assistant, Allegheny National Forest.

Representing U.S. Forest Service area: Ralph H. Freeman, supervisor Allegheny National Forest; Wayne R. Mann, deputy supervisor; William Arnold, recreation staff assistant; Fred Wiese, recreational planner and Bob Emery, landscape architect.

From U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Philadelphia headquarters are: Earl Nichols, assistant regional director; David Dupee, chief, division of federal coordination and William O'Neal, division of state planning.

President Johnson's announcement taking himself out of consideration could spark a rash of favorite son candidates at Chicago.

Humphrey Withholds Candidacy Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey withheld any disclosure Monday night as to whether he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Humphrey, arriving back home from Mexico City, indicated he will delay any decision on his possible candidacy until after he has met with President Johnson Tuesday.

Gordon Trembley represents the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Nicholas Bukovich represents the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Frank Schmidt, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

C.G. Coughlin, regional deputy and William A. Hendrickson, planning analyst are attending from Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs office in Erie.

George Kasparek, Robert Southworth, Rajinder Chhaba and David E. Wade represent Pennsylvania State Planning Board.

Outdoor writer Don Neal will represent Warren Times-Mirror and Observer. Also representatives of Bureau of State Parks will attend.

Much Fighting Foreseen Before Hanoi's Answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials foresee more hard fighting ahead in Vietnam before a decisive answer can be expected from Hanoi on President Johnson's new bombing halt bid to get peace talks started.

The initial reaction from North Vietnam is likely to be negative, officials said, but Johnson has put no time limit on his partial suspension of air attacks against North Vietnam. He is said to be prepared to wait for a reasonable time for President Ho Chi Minh to consider his proposal, announced Sunday night.

Johnson's decision to halt all bombing except for major infiltration routes is attributed to a belief in the administration that the Vietnamese war may be in a climactic stage. If this view is correct, then after further hard fighting the North Vietnamese may be prepared to go into negotiations and seek a compromise settlement of the conflict.

Several top officials checked by the Associated Press said privately that Johnson did not decide to make his move at this time because of any secret show of interest from Hanoi in making a deal now.

One official said he knew of no encouraging sign from the North Vietnamese capital. Another called the President's action "an honest step in the dark" in the hope that it would lead to talks.

Officials recognized, however, that the bid might very well fail. This view was expressed explicitly by former Undersecretary of State George Ball, who continues in close touch with U.S. authorities on Vietnamese war issues.

Ball told newsmen at a lunch here Monday that he does not think "there will be any serious negotiations with the North Vietnamese" until after a new U.S. president has taken office next January.

In announcing Sunday night that he was stopping air strikes against most of North Vietnam, Johnson called on Britain and the Soviet Union to do everything within their power to arrange peace talks, and Monday the British government began sounding out Moscow on possible action.

American Planes Bomb North Viet Supply Target

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes bombed a supply target 209 miles north of the demilitarized zone in North Vietnam on Monday. U.S. Military sources said air raids may continue at least that far north under the bombing curtailment ordered by President Johnson.

U.S. headquarters said the strike was made by carrier-based Navy A6 Intruders a mile south of the coastal city of Thanh Hoa. The city, 80 miles south of Hanoi, is a vital resupply point for war supplies from the North.

The raid occurred at least four hours after President Johnson ordered the bombing of North Vietnam curtailed as "the first step to de-escalate" the war.

Asked if the strike had been ordered after the bombing curtailment went into effect, a spokesman at U.S. headquarters indicated that it had been.

"The raid south of Thanh Hoa Monday was within the prescribed area established by President Johnson," the spokesman said.

Pentagon Discloses Plans For Three-Phase Call-up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to tap as many as 60,000 reservists to back the Vietnam war effort and bolster the readiness of uncommitted military forces watching the home front.

Defense officials disclosed the planned moves Monday while cautioning that the exact size of the reserve mobilization could vary up or down depending on Pentagon studies now under way.

The first impact will come Wednesday when the Pentagon is due to order up perhaps 15,000 reservists, mostly Army.

Several thousand are needed in Vietnam to provide support for combat units which were rushed to South Vietnam in February following the Communists' Tet holiday offensive. In addition, Gen. William C. Westmoreland has asked that one of the units which was flown to Vietnam during the emergency buildup — the 27th Marine Regimental Landing Team — be replaced by Army troops. A few thousand new troops — some regular, some reserve — will be exchanged for the Marines, officials said.

President Johnson announced Sunday night that an additional 13,500 men would be needed for the war, raising the over-all U.S. commitment to 549,000 in coming months. The previously announced authorized level was 525,000 and about 511,000 are there now.

In future weeks or months, officials said, there will be a further call-up of reserves, expected not to exceed 50,000, to help restore the nation's Strategic Reserve Force, an active-duty combat aggregation kept in the United States to meet emergencies in remote areas.

Officials were not more specific as to the possible size of this last call-up but indications were the military would like a division — size force — roughly 45,000 — to rebuild the Strategic Reserve force.

State Police, FBI Arrest Three for Abduction

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — State police and the FBI, acting on a tip, arrested Monday night three men wanted for abducting two couples and shooting one man to death.

One of the men was wounded by police gunfire and taken to a hospital.

Arthur McConnell, 45; Donald R. Hosack, 27; and Kenneth Perrine, 21, all of Mercer, were the objects of a wide hunt all weekend after Gary Lee Bailey turned himself in Saturday morning and led police to the grave where Kenneth M. Frick was buried.

McConnell and Perrine were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Jennine Stodolak and charged with murder.

Hosack, who was shot, underwent surgery at Bashline Hospital, Grove City. Police said Hosack was shot when he emerged from the farm house with a rifle.

Arrested with them at an abandoned farmhouse near here was Harry Barnes, 35, of Rt. 2, Volant. Barnes was charged as an accessory.

carrying one great handicap; he has championed vigorously the administration's hard line in Vietnam and thus might perpetuate the national division Johnson sought to end by bowing out as a 1968 candidate.

The overriding question thus remained: Which Democrat would get Johnson's legions of supporters — big city mayors, leaders of the AFL-CIO, and the faithful followers who began hitching their wagons to the Johnson star 30 years ago.

But a dispatch distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass called Johnson's peace move a maneuver that ignored North Vietnam's long standing demand for an unconditional end to all bombing attacks and other acts of war against its territory.

man said. He declined further comment.

Navy pilots also raided points Monday above the city of Vinh, which is 150 miles north of the DMZ. A7 Corsairs struck at three radar sites 36 miles north of Vinh and pilots said one was silenced.

Other Navy strikes were flown south of Vinh in North Vietnam's southern panhandle. Air Force bombers flew 44 missions over the North on Monday, the deepest 85 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

President Johnson said Sunday night U.S. air attacks would be halted over most of North Vietnam's territory and that nearly 90 per cent of the North Vietnamese population would be spared. The strikes, he said, would be limited to areas just north of the DMZ, where enemy build-ups threaten allied positions.

Exactly how far north U.S. bombers could continue to strike was kept secret, apparently as a bargaining maneuver in any efforts to reach peace talks involving Hanoi.

was arraigned earlier Monday on charges of murder and burglary. Police said the burglary charge accused him of breaking into a highway shack and stealing two long-handled shovels used to dig Frick's grave.

Frick, 21, of Ford City and an honor student at Virginia Military Institute, Richard Dragan, also 21, of Ford City, and their dates — two unidentified Slippery Rock State College coeds — were at a restaurant parking lot near Slippery Rock Thursday night when four men with guns forced them out of their car, police said.

Police said Frick and Dragan were forced into the trunk and the girls put in the front. The men then drove the car to neighboring Mercer County. The car stopped along the way and Frick was taken from the car by two of the men, police said. They said it wasn't certain if he was shot then or later in the night.

The other three were taken to a farm house, authorities said, where Dragan was roughed up and the girls molested. Police said Bailey told them he let the three escape early Friday when he was left alone to stand guard.

Wanna Buy A Plane?

A classified ad in today's TM&O indicates the Stinson 108-3, the airplane which crashed into the Allegheny river early Sunday, may be salvaged where it is — as it is. According to the ad the first reasonable offer will be accepted. Total time on the engine is 650 hours, never majored. It is a Mark II Omal. There are also many other salvageable parts. ## Five Homeless After Fire Destroys Trailer

A Pleasantville family was left homeless Saturday evening when a trash fire went out of control and destroyed the family's trailer home.

Thomas Greer, his wife and their three children, including a new baby, were in the trailer when a passing motorist discovered the blaze and alerted the family.

Firemen said sparks from a trash fire were apparently blown into some hay bales stacked underneath the elevated trailer.

The fire, which broke out shortly before 7 p. m., was raging out of control when Pleasantville firemen arrived. Only a few personal belongings were saved. The trailer and nearly all the family's possessions were considered a total loss.

Mrs. Greer had returned from the hospital with the couple's new baby only a few hours before the fire. The family was reportedly staying with Mrs. Greer's parents in Garland.

Captains Named For Youngsville Library Drive

The Youngsville Public Library fund drive, set to coincide with National Library Week and starting Monday, April 22, will have seven area captains organizing the door-to-door campaign throughout the community.

Names of the captains, announced today by the Library Association president, Mrs. Gilbert M. Sanford, are: Orval Borton, Henry Brooks, Lewis Crippen, Gordon H. Kay, Robert C. Knapp, Gilbert M. Sanford and James Thompson.

The drive, the first in 33 years is to help the Library offset costs of a new furnace and other improvements in recent months and to provide for further improvement at the library premises at 41 West Main street, Youngsville.

The drive will last three days and close with an open-house at the library on the evening of Wednesday, April 24. During the second half of the week the Youngsville Business and Professional Women's Club will conduct their annual tag days for the benefit of the library.

Youngsville Gets $2,500 Proj. 70 Grant

The expenditure of $2,500 in Project 70 funds for the purchase of three acres near the Youngsville swimming pool has been approved by Gov. Shafer, Rep. William Allen announced recently.

The grant, first announced last August, will cover half the cost of the land, which was recently purchased by Youngsville Borough from Youngsville Business People's Association. One of the three acres will be used for a 200-car parking lot, borough manager James Malone said Monday.

Work on the parking lot will begin this spring; it will probably not be paved "much before June" Malone said.

Plans for use of the remaining two acres are as yet indefinite.

China, with about one-fourth of the world's population, occupies a territory in the eastern part of Asia about one-third larger than continental United States.

FUNERAL SERVICES

State Senate Republicans Bypass Teachers' Pay Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans, apparently far from any kind of agreement, bypassed action Monday on a proposed $35 million teachers' salary bill.

After more than four hours of caucus debate, the GOP senators called it quits for the day. They scheduled a meeting for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to start all over again.

"The availability of money is still the question that bothers us very much," Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford, told newsmen when the caucus ended.

Stroup said the Republicans, who control the Senate, had debated at least four possible courses of action.

Although Stroup declined to discuss specifics, it was clear that the alternatives under discussion involved adding more money to the Senate version of the pay bill.

There was one unconfirmed report that several senators favored boosting the $35 million bill to about $47 million.

Last week, the Senate cut $18 million from the pay bill, which had carried a $53 million price tag when it was approved by the GOP-controlled House.

The House bill would have given the state's 103,000 public school teachers and administrators a $500 across-the-board pay hike in the 1968-69 school year.

In its present form, the bill would increase state subsidy payments to local school districts, with the districts to decide for themselves how much money to give teachers.

The measure, however, would require that all local districts pay a starting salary of $5,400 instead of the present minimum of $4,500. Many districts already pay more than the mandated minimum.

Members of the Pennsylvania State Education Association (PSEA) visited senators individually at their homes over the weekend and asked them to restore the $18 million trimmed from the bill last week.

Joseph Standa of Johnstown, PSEA president, said the weekend visits "apparently had some effect."

"The Senate seemed ready to pass a reduced bill last week," Standa said, "but it's obvious at least some of the senators have changed their minds today."

Standa also said that at least one PSEA representative from each of the state's 67 counties would be in the Senate chamber for Tuesday's session.

"We intend to make contact," Standa said.

In the House, meanwhile, a lesser controversy arose over an education measure when Rep. William G. Buchanan, chairman of the Higher Education Committee, intercepted a Shafer Administration bill that would create a single board of trustees for the 13 state colleges.

Buchanan, R-Indiana, refused to sponsor a similar administration proposal last year because he objected to Indiana University of Pennsylvania being covered by the bill.

The latest version of the bill obviously was tailored to meet Buchanan's approval, since Indiana University was excluded.

Also introduced, and intercepted by Buchanan, was a bill that would give the state colleges more fiscal autonomy by permitting them to make purchases of up to $1,000 without public bidding.

The House recessed until Wednesday so that its members could attend the funeral in Johnstown Tuesday of Hiram Andrews, former speaker and long-time House member.

The Senate was scheduled to return at 11 a.m. Tuesday. If the GOP caucus does not reach an early agreement, however, that starting time will be pushed back.

Boy, 4, All Right; Swallowed Aspirin

MARIENVILLE — Chris Seybert, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seybert of Marienville, was rushed to Clarion Hospital after his mother discovered he had swallowed approximately a half bottle of baby aspirin.

The little boy climbed up on his high chair to reach the bottle of aspirin which his mother thought was out of reach.

He was taken to the emergency room where doctors pumped his stomach. It is reported the boy is all right.

W. H. Nolan Resigns From Art Metal Inc.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — William H. Nolan, executive vice president and treasurer of Art Metal Inc. said Monday he has reluctantly resigned his position because of basic disagreements with the company's parent firm, Walter E. Heller Inc. of Chicago. Nolan said the decision of Walter E. Heller Inc. to move Art Metal's main office from Jamestown to Chicago is a strict violation of the $36 million merger agreement made last September between Art Metal and Walter Heller Inc. He said his resignation will be effective April 15.

The resignation of Nolan was announced in Jamestown last week by Walter Heller Inc., but no reason was given at that time. According to Nolan, who is credited with lifting Art Metal from a nearly bankrupt position five years ago to a profit making corporation in 1968, the parent company agreed to operate with the same management and has now violated that agreement.

Art Metal is the largest acquisition ever made by the Chicago based firm, and yet no representatives from Art Metal have been chosen to serve on the board of directors. Only Nolan and W. Cornell Deckert, Art Metal president, were chosen to the Art Metal board. While at Art Metal, Nolan is given credit for being one of the main developers of the company's new 22 acre plant in the town of Busti.

Texas Democrats, Stunned, Start Boom for Connally

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democratic leaders, staggered by President Johnson's decision not to run again, started a quick boomlet Monday for lame duck Gov. John Connally as a favorite son candidate.

Some of Connally's friends just as quickly started a "Block Bobby Kennedy" drive.

Connally and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., a presidential nomination seeker, have been outspoken political foes since 1960 when Connally led an unsuccessful citizens campaign to get Johnson the nomination instead of John F. Kennedy.

Connally, 52, hedged questions about accepting a "favorite son" draft that would have the Texas delegation voting for him on at least the first national convention ballot. However, he flatly told a news conference that he "had no thoughts whatever about the vice presidency."

The Texan twice made nominating speeches for Johnson at national conventions and later was made secretary of the navy after President Kennedy was elected and Johnson became vice president. Connally resigned the Cabinet job to return to Texas and is closing out his third two-year term as governor and not seeking re-election. Connally was wounded when an assassin's bullets killed President Kennedy.

Connally said he was not yet ready to say who he would support for the party nominee, calling attention to an emergency meeting of the Texas Democratic Committee Tuesday to revamp its 1968 political plans which had been built around Johnson's renomination.

Connally gave a "wait and see" answer when asked if he would support Senator Kennedy as a national party nominee.

Frank Erwin, National democratic committeeman, said his mind was already made up. "I remain convinced that Bobby Kennedy's cold ruthlessness, his demonstrated opportunism and his overriding personal ambitions render him totally unfit to hold any high public office," Erwin said.

Eugene Locke, who resigned as deputy ambassador to South Vietnam to run for Texas governor with Connally's blessings, called on state party heads to unite behind Connally as a favorite son candidate immediately. "to head off a serious party split."

Roundtable Scheduled For Thursday

Chief Complanter Council Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Explorer round table meets Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Sheffield. Hosts are Sheffield Scout Troop 35, Charles Rice, Scoutmaster.

Dr. Klahr McDonald is in charge of Boy Scout roundtable. The theme is mapping skills and signaling. Boy Scout leaders will receive final briefing concerning Scouting in Action Show April 20 at National Guard Armory in Warren.

Cub Scout round table is in charge of Mrs. Evelyn Smith of Russell. It features Cub Scout craft ideas related to the sea, entitled "Dave Jones' Locker" theme for May. Cubmasters will receive information about the national summertime Cub Scout program awards. Also Cub leaders will be given a chance to ask questions concerning their displays at the Scouting in Action show.

Explorer cabinet meets with the round table. All Explorer officers and cabinet representatives are invited. Business for the session concerns spring programs, including father and son car rally, and building of a trail from Camp Olmsted to Camp Scoutdale.

Warren County can beg the transition under a new board of county commissioners, despite a recount on counting of write-in votes, was orderly and that business as usual got under way following swearing-in ceremonies in January.

Troop 54 Receives Awards

Members of Boy Scout troop 54 sponsored by Grand Valley EUB Church were presented awards in special "Court of Honor" ceremonies held at the church March 24, 1968.

Ten boys received second class awards while four of the scouts were awarded Tenderfoot badges. Those receiving second class awards were Randy Beers, Robert Graham, Dave Graham, Raymond Heiler, Michael Morrison, Joe Morrison, Joe Lynch, Charles Lynch, Joe Osborne and John Zolko. The four who were awarded Tenderfoot badges were Byron Baker, Douglas Chase, Cyril Paden and Michael Savitz.

Special awards during the ceremonies went to George Lynch Jr., Senior patrol leader badge and home repair merit badge; Michael Morrison, assistant senior patrol leader badge; Joe Morrison, troop scribe badge; Robert Graham, patrol leader badge, wolverine patrol; Randy Beers, assistant patrol leader badge, wolverine patrol; Michael Savitz, patrol scribe badge; wolverine patrol; Joe Lynch, patrol leader badge, panther patrol; John Zolko, assistant patrol leader badge, panther patrol; Charles Lynch, patrol leader badge, beaver patrol; and Douglas Chase, assistant patrol leader badge, beaver patrol.

ICS Graduate

John Ross, 323 Pleasant Drive Warren, has received his certificate of completion in fortran programming for engineers from International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, according to L. E. Johnson, area representative of ICS.

Ross is employed as mathematician and computer programming with Struthers-Wells Corp., Warren.

Such is not the case in Northumberland County which is being operated on borrowed time and borrowed money.

With an interim board of commissioners at the helm of county government, a budget for 1968 has not been approved nor the tax millage levied. Warren County expects to formally adopt its 1968 budget Thursday with no tax millage increase anticipated.

In Northumberland County, tax collectors agree that with the situation, with no signs that a budget will be adopted and the millage set in the immediate future, chaotic conditions could ensue. Tax billing dates may have to be revised tax discount deadlines changed and the county's credit standing placed on a wobbly foundation.

The present situation stems from a prolonged election dispute and an absentee ballot hassle now almost five months old.

The interim board, appointed by the court to perform routine duties, includes W. Fred Kohler, treasurer-elect and former commissioner, Oscar E. Kehler, Democratic candidate for commissioner and Fred E. Hoffman, former county commissioner who did not run for any office.

Kehler and Lawrence A. Williams, Republican, are embroiled in a battle for the third seat on the board of county commissioners. The board's term of operations will be limited pending settlement of the election dispute.

As an interim board, the acting commissioners cannot adopt a budget or levy taxes, unless granted additional powers by the court, according to county solicitor Preston L. Davis.

Johnson's Twin Bombshells Present Several Challenges

An AP News Analysis

President Johnson's twin bombshells, his withdrawal from the presidential race and his cutback in the bombing of North Vietnam, come at a time when there are suggestions that the North Vietnamese population has become bone-tired of the war and perhaps more difficult to handle. If that is the case, the President's actions could lead to peace negotiations.

One way or the other, the President's announcements probably landed with stunning force in Hanoi.

In one way the Communists are likely to be discomfited. The announcements lob the peace ball into their court, and world opinion will wait their response. The President's decisions present a challenge to Moscow—he has asked it to use its role as cochairman of the 1954 Geneva conference to further the cause of Vietnam peace.

The President's suspension of bombing of 90 per cent of North Vietnam goes a long way toward meeting a major condition laid down by Hanoi for talks. The pause is open-ended. It provides a lever, if they choose to use it, for the Russians, and perhaps the French, to apply pressure on Hanoi to respond.

Only two weeks ago, in the name of President Ho Chi Minh, Hanoi published a 22-article decree promising Draconian punishment for North Vietnamese opponents of the war.

The decree listed as punishable "counterrevolutionary crimes" such activities as "opposition to the fatherland and the people's democratic power, sabotage of Socialist construction, undermining national defense and the struggle against U.S. aggression." Activities against "security and order," defecting or abetting defection to the enemy, attempts to destroy the political power in the North, "counterrevolutionary propaganda," and a long list of other offenses are punishable by death or long imprisonment.

This was not the first time that North Vietnamese internal announcements indicated trouble arising from weariness with the war. Others in the past have dealt with manpower shortages plus transport and distribution problems.

The question now is whether, in the light of the dramatic developments in Washington and the new pressures likely to be generated by them, Hanoi will begin to see possible long-range profit in responding to the American overture.

The removal of President Johnson from the American election campaign might encourage Hanoi to hang on and accept the hardships of the next seven months until after the U.S. balloting, to see what that might bring.

Meanwhile, Hanoi propaganda could claim that the U.S. President was forced to step out of the picture because the American situation in South Vietnam was becoming hopeless.

Each participating panelist will speak approximately 15 minutes after which a question and answer period will follow. Donald Shinnars, president of Penn-York Chapter, APICS, encourages all members to attend this special program.

UAW, Budd Co. In Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — The Budd Co., one of the largest suppliers of automotive parts to the four major automakers, and the United Auto Workers union Monday reached tentative agreement on a national contract covering 10,000 workers at five plants in Michigan, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Bargainers continued their discussions past midnight Sunday, when the contract expired. The settlement will be presented to the workers for ratification. Details were withheld pending the vote.

Company and union officials said the tentative contract follows the pattern of recent settlements in the automotive industry.

The company has two plants in Philadelphia, and one each in Detroit, Clinton, Mich., and Gary, Ind.

In addition to automotive supplies, the company makes railway cars at its Red Lion plant in Philadelphia.

Warren Spellers

Spelling Bee winners from Warren travel to Erie Friday where at 1:30 p.m. they will tape their televised contest to be viewed at noon Sunday over WSEE-TV. Sunday's show concludes the current series for the area, the spelling bee sponsored by the Times-Mirror and Observer.

portion of last year, and in other countries in the Far East and Middle East. He was introduced by Thomas K. Barratt, Superintendent Warren County school district.

The photographs included Rotary clubs in Japan and India which he attended.

Many scenes showed schools and colleges in Japan, Thailand, Hong Kong, the Philippines, and India. These crowded and growing institutions, he reports, reflect the immense hunger for education throughout the Far East.

Whipple stressed importance of support of Christian schools and colleges and seminaries by Christians of other lands, because almost all Christian work is today carried on by natives of the various lands, which makes it important to provide them with the best academic and seminary training so their work can progress as it should.

Many colorful scenes not only depicted local customs, landmarks, and scenic wonders, but were in themselves rare in pictorial beauty and composition.

Warren Area High School senior guests of Warren Rotary were Clayton Bright, Zeno Henler and Richard Dies.

Rotary president Henry Powell reminded members to assemble next Monday at noon at the First Baptist Church to attend the community Holy Week service. At 12:45 Rotarians will return to Blue Manor for lunch.

Two Girls Held On Drug Charges

BRADFORD — Two Bradford girls, described by police as runaways, faced arraignment in Dedham, Mass., Monday on narcotics charges.

Police in Dedham said they arrested Linda Somers, 18, of 71 Russell blvd., and Linda Liwelen, 16, of 5 S. Center st., on March 23 and charged them with being present where narcotics were found.

Also arrested were three Massachusetts youths. The five were jailed in Dedham in lieu of $2,500 according to Police Chief Walter Carroll.

Police stated that one of the youths admitted the group had in its possession 2.20 pounds of marijuana, LSD and Speed, the latter being a souped up version of LSD, the hallucinatory drug.

There was no information on where the five obtained the drugs, reportedly worth several thousand dollars.

It Took Courage

President Johnson's unexpected announcement that he will not be a candidate for reelection leads one to look for answers as to why a man would not want to be President of the United States. And while the answers to this question may be many, there can be no more than a few that would bring him to take such final and drastic action.

In evaluating these few, however, there can be little doubt that the current financial condition of the nation must have been an outstanding reason. Because of it the President has had to propose and insist that the nation accept an austerity program that will deny funds to a wide range of domestic projects which are vital to the future of the country. Projects designed and directed towards realizing to the fullest extent the potential which exists in our human and environmental resources.

Those directed to our human resources, being of more recent national interest, hardly reflect the impact of such an austerity program. At least not to the same extent as projects in the field of environmental improvement. Highway and conservation programs which have held a high priority in the minds of most citizens for a long time have been hit hard.

The Forest Service has been cut $21.6 million. The Cropland Conversion program has been discontinued. Agriculture research has been cut $25 million and Forest Service research $1.3 million. The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration funds were reduced $24.3 million and the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation suffered a loss of $4.9 million. The list of agencies suffering similar losses to their vital programs and projects is a long one.

To a man with the President's dedicated desire to serve the best interests of his country the need for such austerity must have been extremely frustrating. Especially if he felt that his official actions had contributed to this need. And it is easy to understand why such frustration and the least possible personal incrimination would bring him to the decision to step aside.

But such a step took courage. Such a display of courage that even those who have opposed him must have experienced some feeling of admiration as they witnessed the old warrior laying down his sword.

MASON DENISON

'Public Relations' Front

HARRISBURG — The conviction is growing among observers at House Appropriations Committee budget hearings that Pennsylvania's taxpayers are being taken over the ropes in a fine fare-thee-well on the administration's "public relations" front—to a time valetously estimated by some now as between $5 and $10 million a year!

Denison

Democratic legislators, led by Representative Eugene Gelfand of Philadelphia, are trying to ascertain the total cost of all such public relations activities—public relations, public information and advertising costs as related to Pennsylvania's shifty taxpayers and their gracious (although involuntary) contribution to the cause celebre.

Ironically, the Republican Administration, in an effort to head off the Democratic investigation, has helped furnish a clue to those watching the hearings.

Last week, the highest paid public relations official in the state, Hugh Flaherty, the Governor's Legislative Secretary, listed public relations men and back-up personnel who received salaries of $1.4 million.

However, based on testimony of officials who have been honestly attempting to give a complete accounting of their public relations costs, those present at hearings figure that perhaps as high as three dollars are spent in total public relations expenditures, to each dollar spent in salaries.

Other officials have given less complete answers. These include Attorney General William C. Bennett, who signed the contract giving William Keisling, Harrisburg public relations man, $30 per hour for certain services.

Mr. Bennett listed his total public relations expenses as $13,979 for Paul Zdinak, the department's public relations man, plus 10 per cent of a secretary and 15 per cent of a clerk. He did not list anything for expenses, such as postage, phone calls, and stationery, nor did he deem it necessary to give a complete accounting of the cost of the Keisling contract.

(Mr. Gelfand says he has written the Attorney General asking for a more complete accounting, suggesting that it might be better for him to give the information in writing than to be recalled for further testimony.)

"The entire search for the cost of public relations to the state's taxpayers has been a frustrating one," the Philadelphia lawmaker commented.

"First of all, I would like to say that I am not against public relations—just the abuses that have crept into the entire field. We would like to know if we are spending too much for public relations, whether programs are misguided, or whether officials are using state funds for personal build-ups.

"Many of the departments have not been listing complete expenditures, some of them out of honest mistake as to our intent. But others have tried to avoid giving a complete accounting."

As an example, he pointed out that Revenue Secretary Warner M. Depuy (who incidentally is Republican candidate for Auditor General) wrote him a letter in which he listed expenses in the public relations field as $26,595 "for July 1, 1968, to February 29, 1968" (sic) and travel expenses, supplies, equipment and related expenditures as $4,208 for the same period.

Forgetting the obvious mistake as to dates, we wonder why Mr. Depuy did not give the amounts asked for by Mr. Gelfand—for the last completed fiscal year, the amount spent thus far this year and the estimate for the rest of the fiscal year, plus the estimate for the 1968-69 fiscal year. Mr. Gelfand hopes to find the answers when Mr. Depuy testifies this week.

Mr. Flaherty's list, which was broken down into individual salaries for public relations personnel, came to $58,862 for the Department of Revenue. Mr. Depuy's accounting for more than half of that period came to less than half that amount! And if we are to believe Mr. Depuy's figures, he paid nothing for secretarial help or for clerks, etc.

"We're not going to let this thing come to a rest until we get a complete accounting," he said.

SYLVIA PORTER

How Did You Do in Stocks?

You're in the overwhelming majority of America's 24,000,000 stockholders if you made money in the stock market last year; nine out of 10 investors did. And you almost surely chalked up a profit if you were an "active" investor; 97 per cent of those who made 25 or more trades in 1967 had gains.

If you were an average investor, you boosted the value of your portfolio about 18 per cent, compared with a rise of 15.2 per cent in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks and of 23 per cent in the New York Stock Exchange's comprehensive index of listed stocks. If you were one of the estimated 3,600,000 active investors, though, the odds are your portfolio rose as much as 27 per cent, while if you were among the close to 12,000,000 comparatively inactive investors, the increase in your stocks was around 15 per cent.

If you were the unlucky one out of 10 who lost money, there's a good chance you lost it in American Telephone. Other stocks in which you well might have lost were: TWA, Pan Am, General Motors, Nationwide Corp., U.S. Steel, Airlift International, American Airlines, Continental Airlines and Montgomery Ward.

But if you chalked up gains, you could have owned any of a long list. IBM could have been your big money-maker. Or Sperry Rand, Control Data, Occidental Petroleum, Chrysler, Raytheon, Burroughs, Ling-Tempco, Avco and Avnet.

As an active investor, you probably support a tax increase because you believe it would help curb inflation and reduce the Federal budget deficit; the big economic problems which you see facing the nation are military spending, inflation, the balance of payments deficit and government spending. Despite your worries, however, most of you expect the stock market to be higher at the end of 1968 than at the end of 1967.

Recently, Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, among the top half-dozen stock firms in the country with 60 branches across the nation, obtained answers from 2,140 of its customers to an exhaustive questionnaire designed to reveal customer activities and attitudes. The data was then scientifically weighed to make it applicable to the shareholder population as a whole. I have obtained a copy of the survey and I suspect that it could be in some ways a more realistic picture of you and me, as investors, than even the New York Stock Exchange census. The reason is that this is a profile of the individual who actually maintains a brokerage account, and thus, it is not distorted by the investor, big or little, who rarely makes a trade.

What are some implications of the findings?

A first point which leaps out of the statistics is that in last year's extremely selective market, it did not pay to "sit tight"—especially with such "sit tight" favorites as American Telephone. This message apparently has penetrated. The survey indicates that those who were generally inactive in 1967 plan to be more active in 1968.

A hidden implication of this point is in turn that Wall Street's "back office" crisis, too heavy a volume of trading and paperwork for current facilities, will continue, for Wall Street has not yet found a way to handle the mounting volume of transactions.

A second point which is underlined is the extent to which big money has been made in new fields and new types of companies, office equipment and conglomerates, and the extent to which it has been lost in the great blue chips.

Still a third point is the sophisticated attitude active investors have toward a tax increase. While a tax hike obviously would bite into corporate profits and individual incomes, the stock market might actually rise on news of a tax hike because of what investors think it might achieve.

The First And The Last

WASHINGTON — It was Lyndon Johnson's fate that he moved Americans most at the first and the last, in those moments when he was able to set himself apart from the politics by which he has lived. In between, when he was playing his trade, doing what he understood Americans to have elected him to do, he was seldom able to catch the inner ear of the people and make them listen.

As President, Johnson was — and surely will be for the next 10 months — an indefatigable doer, a man of power and pride and action who pushed hard for what he wanted, achieved much of it and broke a lot of traditions and taboos in the process. It was said of him that he wanted to be loved, and often acted like it, but in the long run he usually gave action a higher priority than affection.

As a result, he got more of the former than the latter. And those who have felt a duty to criticize him, and with mounting severity, for the waging of war in Vietnam with all its distressing effects in the United States and elsewhere, will do Johnson no favor now or in history by discovering virtues retrospectively that they never noticed in him before.

They can, and above all ought however, to point out that in his withdrawal announcement Lyndon Johnson made clear one thing that the most responsible of his critics never denied. Whatever his faults of judgment or performance, he was never a totally cynical politician willing to do anything for re-election calculating nothing but his own interest, caring little for decency or integrity.

It was not such a caricature of a man who restored the balance and confidence of the nation after the dreadful day in Dallas when everything seemed shattered; who expressed in his southern accent, and more successfully than any other President, the cause of the Southern Negro; who presided in 1965 and 1966 over the legislative culmination of most of the liberal aspirations of the post-war era.

Whatever the full range of his reasoning, it was certainly not such a caricature who reached and announced the decision to withdraw. At one stroke, by removing himself as a target and a symbol, the President did much to cleanse the political atmosphere of the poison which had been filling it; he put himself in position to act on the question of Vietnam without incurring the charge that he was merely seeking re-election; and if he did not guarantee that national unity for which he said he acted, he did much to eliminate himself as a barrier to it.

This reminder of Lyndon Johnson's genuine character raises poignantly the question why he was not, in the final analysis, able to sustain the great political power the people conferred upon him in 1964.

The answer has much to do with the kind of man he is. He was seldom able, as he acknowledged in Chicago Monday, to communicate effectively with those whose confidence and backing he needed. That search for consensus and unity that he stressed Sunday night and again Monday led him all too often to half-measures that satisfied no one — that left hawks, for instance, wanting more war in Vietnam and doves wanting more peace.

This was a part of the "credibility gap" that plagued him, but only a part. His great shrewdness and craft and caution gave him too often the appearance of a man who trusted no one and that meant that few believed they could trust him, either.

Nor could he compensate for these deficiencies with sheer political skill; in fact, as the years of his administration unfolded, it became clear that he had little mastery of politics outside Washington and Texas. He seemed to understand fully neither the old organization politics nor the new politics of personal imagery and public participation.

But when all these things have been said, the over-riding cause for Lyndon Johnson's decline from the peaks of 1964 and 1965 was the war in Vietnam — too confidently entered upon, too little understood, too costly for any gain he could make men see, too complex either to win or to end by the kind of direct and straightforward action that Americans favor.

And that is the ultimate, perhaps tragic irony. Lyndon Johnson came into office seeking a Great Society in America and found instead an ugly little war that consumed him.

McCarthy in Wisconsin

WASHINGTON — The public already knows that Sen. Eugene McCarthy will win the primary today in Wisconsin. But the public doesn't know that this vote will end a long and fascinating friendship of men sometimes called the Three Musketeers of Minnesota.

Vice President Humphrey, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman began their political careers together as students at the University of Minnesota, emerged as young idealists who organized the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, and pushed each other politically until each became a national leader.

Hubert Humphrey became mayor of Minneapolis in 1944, and two years later helped make Orville Freeman, a young Marine veteran who had his jaw shot off at Bougainville, assistant to the mayor, then secretary of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party. Together they picked their fellow student, Gene McCarthy, then a young teacher at St. John's University, to be chairman of the St. Paul DFL, then elected him to Congress in 1948.

In the same year McCarthy was elected to Congress, Freeman became chairman of the DFL party and Hubert Humphrey was elected to the Senate.

Freeman went on to become governor of Minnesota in 1954, then in 1958 helped get Gene McCarthy elected to the Senate. McCarthy is a Catholic.

Two years later, Freeman, a Lutheran, and head of his Masonic lodge, campaigned so hard for a Catholic President that he was defeated for governor. Thereafter he became Kennedy's Secretary of Agriculture.

But friendship of the three Minnesota Musketeers began to cool when McCarthy wanted to be Lyndon Johnson's running mate and Hubert Humphrey was tabbed instead. Today, in Wisconsin, the friendship has completely evaporated. To hear McCarthy, Humphrey, and Secretary Freeman stumping the state, you would think they had been lifelong enemies.

Freeman, originally a Kennedy man, is all out for Johnson. There is no wavering toward Bobby, nor toward his old friend Gene to whom he gave a big lift back in the old days of the Three Minnesota Musketeers.

What Humphrey and Freeman criticize about McCarthy is his laziness. They compare his record to that of the other Minnesota Senator, Walter Mondale, who has served less than one term and already has his name on three important pieces of legislation — the meat inspection bill, the civil rights bill, and the farmers' bargaining bill. McCarthy, after 10 years in the Senate, hasn't passed a single major bill.

Despite the opposition of his two old friends, however, McCarthy will win the fight in Wisconsin today, for the following reasons:

First, this is his Northwest Territory and

Get Me a Scapegoat

WASHINGTON — Americans are surely the world's most passionate blame fixers. When things go badly, their first instinct is to find somebody or something to blame.

In less hot-blooded countries much of life's normal agony and inconvenience is accepted as the result of divine intervention, blind fate, or the inexorable workings of chance. Not in America. If at breakfast the fried egg is served with the yolk broken, we do not shrug it off as a misfortune, or as God's will, and we certainly do not say, "Ah, well, in the course of a normal life a few broken egg yolks are inescapable."

No. We appoint an investigating committee to look into the cook's motives and competence. The grocer comes under suspicion, and the wholesale egg dealer, and the hen. To the American it is important to get to the bottom of that broken yolk, expose the wretch responsible for it and see that he either mends his ways or gets expunged from society.

The reason for this is the American belief in perfectibility. If everyone does the proper thing properly, in the American creed, there need never be a broken yolk in a fried egg. In short, Americans refuse to accept the ancient wisdom embodied in the word "mistake," which is that very often, even when everybody does his best, the worst will occur.

In the case of egg yolks this is, admittedly, an innocent form of madness, but in more complicated messes it regularly leads us to the edge of mass paranoia. An example is the report of the President's commission which studied race rioting.

The factors that lead Negroes to riot begin with Columbus's discovery of America — and the simultaneous discovery that slave labor would be needed to get the white man established here — and include nearly five centuries of abuse and inhuman treatment. Obviously, any effort to fix the blame would be pointless — there is no satisfaction in smearing Columbus, any more — so, naturally, the commission went ahead and fixed it anyhow.

The blame, it declared, rested upon "white racism." This seems to have satisfied those whites who like to wear the hair shirt, but it is hard to see that it gets us anywhere. What the Negro needs is relief; all that this exercise in blame-fixing offers him is an official nudge toward paranoia.

Overt white racists are unlikely to undergo personality transformation by having a finger pointed at them, and whites who do not customarily think of themselves as racists are diverted from the useful contemplation of helpful social remedies to paralyzing self-doubt and self-analysis.

It is a typical example of the American zeal for blame-fixing, distracting the country from the main business at hand.

The McCarthyist red hunt after World War II was in the same class. Because World War II failed to produce the world millennium, Senator Joe and his colleagues were given public license to find somebody to blame. While they went about terrorizing lower — drawer bureaucrats, the country was crippled for years in its attempts to adjust intelligently to global-power status.

One result was the nonpolicy of anti-communism, which brought us inexorably to Vietnam before intelligent men in public office dared to suggest openly that it was, in fact, a nonpolicy.

And now that we are there, the hunt for someone on whom the blame can be pinned seems to occupy us more intensely than the central problem, which is how to extricate ourselves without disaster. Whereas the McCarthyist blame-fixers were composed largely of political troglodytes, the Vietnam blame-fixers are led by the liberals, intellectuals and students who, in their eagerness to bum-rush us into paranoia, are not above such dishonesty as likening President Johnson to Adolf Hitler.

Men supposed to be among the best thinkers in the country are so absorbed in the joys of fixing the blame that they are incapable of granting the President a mercy verdict — "Ah, he blundered terribly" — or of saying, "In such a world, the worst will often happen even when motives are the noblest."

It is not reassuring to see intelligent men playing snake-oil salesmen for paranoia, but the compulsion to have somebody to blame seems to run in the American blood, even that which animates the best minds.

The airlines, which by the nature of their work have been forced to see the hysteria that lurks in the American soul, understand all this very clearly. On breakfast flights, the eggs are always served scrambled.

The $250 Dinner

WASHINGTON — There have been rumors that certain government agencies have been putting the arm on federal employees to buy tickets to the $250-a-plate Democratic fundraising dinner in Washington to honor President Johnson on April 4. Several employees making $18,000 or more have complained that their supervisors have hinted that attendance at the dinner would be in their best interests. They have also been reminded that they have been promoted and given pay raises by the Johnson Administration.

This sort of thing is bound to backfire, as it did the other day when George Hornwinkel, a grade-15 employee in the Bureau of Revisions and Retrenchment, was called in by his supervisor, Arthur Argonaut.

Argonaut greeted Hornwinkel warmly and asked him to sit down.

"Hornwinkel, you're doing a fine job. Everyone in the bureau says you're on the ball."

"Thank you, sir. I always say a man is as good as his supervisor, and you're the best."

"You're very kind. Hornwinkel, were you thinking of going to the Democratic party on April 4? I'm not pressing you, of course, but I do have some tickets here in case you want one. They're only $250, but I'm sure it will be a memorable evening."

"Yes, sir, I sure am thinking of going," Hornwinkel said. "I've been looking forward to this dinner all year long."

"Well, I'm glad to hear you say that, George. I'll put you down for one."

"Sir, I don't want one. I want 10. I wish to take my whole family. You don't get to see President Johnson every day, and besides, he's done so much for federal employees, the least we can do for him is to buy a few lousy tickets to his dinner."

Argonaut blanched. "Ten tickets will cost you $2,500, Hornwinkel. You don't have to go overboard on this."

"What's money when you can have a marvelous dinner, good companionship and great speakers such as only the Democratic Party can produce? Besides, all of us in the government are obligated to support our President, who not only has been responsible for our receiving promotions and pay raises, but other fringe benefits that only the Great Society could deliver."

Argonaut looked coldly at Hornwinkel and said: "George, I think you're after my job."

"What do you mean, sir?"

"You don't fool me," Argonaut shouted. "If you buy 10 tickets to the dinner and I only buy one, the party will hear about it and you'll get MY job. Of all the dirty, low-down tricks, this takes the cake."

"But, sir, I'm not after your job. I sincerely want to buy 10 tickets to the dinner. My wife is dying to see Lady Bird, and my mother and father are ardent admirers of Vice President Humphrey, and my kids think Democratic Chairman John Bailey is one of the most amusing men in politics. I feel that with a cast like that, plus dinner, $250 a plate is a steal."

Argonaut put the tickets back into his drawer. "Hornwinkel, I am not going to sell you 10 tickets. I'm not going to even sell you one ticket to the dinner. And I'm going to go even further. If I see you at the dinner, I'll make your life miserable. You tried to pull a fast one on me and I'll forget it this time. But if you even mention the Democratic party to me again, you will rue the day. Do I make myself clear?"

"Gee, I'm sorry you feel that way, Mr. Argonaut," Hornwinkel said. "I was just trying to help out. But if you believe I was trying to get your job, I'd rather not go to the dinner at all."

"You can go now, Hornwinkel, and forget we had this conversation."

Hornwinkel left Argonaut's office and walked back to his own. On the way he met Leroy Gunther, who said, "How did it work?"

"Like a dream," Hornwinkel smiled. "The slob refused to sell me a ticket."

Gunther looked at his own $250 ticket and sighed. "Damn, I wish I had thought of that first."

Market Turnover Smashes Record

NEW YORK (AP)—A 39-year record for volume topped Monday as the stock market made a huge gain in turbulent trading following President Johnson's surprise announcement of a bombing pause in North Vietnam and his decision not to seek re-election.

Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange soared to 17.73 million shares, smashing the previous record of 16.41 million shares made on the "Black Tuesday" of Oct. 29, 1929.

The Dow Jones industrial average climbed 20.58, to 861.25, the greatest rise by this average since another day which was notably a Johnson day on Wall Street—Nov. 26, 1963, the day after President Kennedy's funeral. The Dow surged ahead 32.03 then, exceeding the previous record rise of 28.40 made on Oct. 30, 1929, a session of technical rebound from "Black Tuesday" and other noteworthy plunges of the Great Crash.

The ticker tape ran 15 minutes late in the morning but caught abreast of transactions by 12:30 when the market had slashed early gains. Prices backed away on a Japanese report that North Vietnam would either ignore or reject Johnson's latest peace-making offer.

The backtracking was only temporary, however, and soon the market began rising again and closed at its highest level of the day, with the ticker tape running 3 minutes late.

Blue chips as well as glamour stocks advanced on a very broad front, many of the volatile issues making multipoint gains.

SWEET ADELIN WEEK will be from May 3 to 10th this year when the singers of sweet harmony will officially celebrate their Fifth Birthday—A program of activities has been planned for the week, with the highlight being the celebration on the final day. The list of activities will be published later—Suffice it to say right now, all the Sweet Adelines are bubbling with plans and enthusiasm. During the week's celebration, it just happens that the local singers will be competing in the Regional Convention in Cleveland, Ohio; the competition is from May 3rd to 5th.

HOME FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH, to what has been for the past few days our delightfully sunny North, are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tibbott. They have just returned from two weeks in Fort Lauderdale as guests of Mrs. Stella Nead and Mr. F. W. Tibbott at Imperial Point. While there they visited Pier 66, Fort Everglade, where the famous ship SS Hope was docked for three days. They also visited Miami, Hollywood, Everglades, Tampa, Lake Wales, Daytona Beach, and the remainder of their stay was spent in Kissimmee, Florida.

MRS. JESS CONNELLY was hostess for the Retired Teachers Association's March meeting. A committee, comprised of Florence Hill, May Connolly, Margaret Horan and Grace Bell, served the delicious 12:30 dinner to eighteen members and one guest. At the meeting (Mrs. Edna Stone presided in the absence of the president) it was announced that Rachel Raiser will entertain for the April 24 luncheon meeting at her home located at 110 Central avenue. She will be assisted by Ruth Keep, Hazel Finley, Frances O'Neill, and Frances Peterson. The May meeting will be held a week early at the Cross Creek Country Club near Titusville.

HAD A LETTER FROM MRS. LAWRENCE J. FARR writing from their winter home in Venice, Florida, in which she made special note of the many Warrenites she and her husband, meet down there—The men get together for golf, and Mrs. Farr, pursuing a long love of music, plays with the Warren Civic Orchestra and loves it (she has played with the Warren Civic Orchestra in other years). She says they give little concerts at the different trailer parks, schools and PTA gatherings. Their director is Mr. Paul Goldenstein who played in Roumania at the Royal Court under the direction of the famous Roumanian composer and director, George Enesco. The letter didn't say when the Farris would be starting home.

MINIATURES: Pittsfield PTA meets at 8 p.m. when Whaley Yost of the Bell Telephone Co. will give a slide-talk program on "Pennsylvania, Land of Plenty." Meeting at 8 p.m., classroom visitation at 7:30 p.m., and executive meeting also at 7:30 p.m. Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Epsilon Epsilon chapter meets for election of officers at the home of Mrs. Joseph DeMott, 7 Canton street, at 8:30 tomorrow night. At the same hour, there will be an organizational meeting for an Exemplar Chapter at the home of Mrs. Clinton Scott, 20 N. State street. Sugar Grove Reading Club meets on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harold Landin. Mrs. Marian Potter, author of children's books, will be the speaker.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

ANN LANDERS: I have written three letters to you in the last three days and torn them all up. This one is going in the mail. My husband and I have been married for 19 years. I should only count the first 10, because these last nine shouldn't happen to a dog.

In 1958 Bill showed definite signs of slowing up sexually. In 1960 I decided something must be wrong. It didn't seem normal for a man in his 30's to be tired for a year and a half. He refused to see a doctor.

I was very nice about it, didn't nag or embarrass him or make him feel inadequate. Since I was raised in a home where marriage vows were considered sacred I decided to make the best of it.

Yesterday the roof fell in. Bill suddenly announced that I MUST be cheating on him. He said, "No wife could put up with a situation like ours. You are unquestionably seeing someone on the side." His accusations are an insult and I'm a nervous wreck. What should I do?—A.B.U.

Dear A.B.U.: Tell Bill he must get professional help. His physical inadequacy is one thing, but the accusations suggest he is also mentally disturbed. The sooner he gets going the better. And good luck to both of you.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I married a widow with a 10-year-old daughter. The girl hated me from the beginning. I tried everything under the sun to win her over, but today she is meaner and more spiteful than ever.

Witnesses Will Assemble This Month

The presiding minister of the Warren congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses announced to the congregation this week that Dunkirk, N. Y., has been chosen as the site for an assembly, April 26-28. Warren will be among the 17 congregations that will have delegates in attendance from southwestern New York state and northwestern Pennsylvania. "By means of this assembly," said Theodore Smith, "we will derive much encouragement to continue zealous in the ministry in helping people to study the Bible and learn of the blessings God has in store for mankind by the promised rule of his heavenly kingdom."

Mr. Smith made emphasis of the fact that the delegates will not become embroiled in controversies that now beset the nation and the world. "Our sole purpose in coming together," Mr. Smith explained, "is to incite one another to love and right works" (Heb. 10:24) and to carry out our dedication to proclaim God's kingdom as the only hope of mankind. About a year ago we had over a thousand persons at our assembly in Dunkirk. This time we hope to have as many or even exceed this figure," concluded Mr. Smith.

All area persons are invited to any of the sessions.

Here's a tasty tip: Successful cheese cookery depends on brief heating at a low temperature. High temperature and prolonged cooking makes cheese tough and stringy.

If the Shoe Fits... James R. Valone

Footsaving Education

Can children feel short shoes?

There is a saying in the shoe trade, "Children's feet seldom hurt." Why? Growing children have soft bones in their formative years and if their feet are in tight shoes, the children might not complain. However, the bone structure is changing which will create problems later on. We have often seen shoes two sizes too small on children and yet they say they feel fine. But where are growing feet to go in a small shoe? Many times you will not see the bunions, ingrown toenails, corns developing, but a basic change in foot proportions may show up in 6 months or a year or two. Basic weakness in arches, or the most common of rotating heels are heard to correct. Ask any mother who has had a child wear corrective shoes, braces or splints. It is an expensive nightmare and progress toward correction is usually slow. We have all types of insurance for life, health and property. For proper foot insurance, have your children's feet checked regularly and make sure the shoes you buy them are fitted by persons who consider shoe fitting a profession—not a sideline.

Final Session For YWCA Series

For the fourth and final session of the YWCA Lenten Series the Reverend Donald H. Spencer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker, using as his topic, "Lenten Memories."

Mrs. Robert Metzgar, member of the Varieties Club, will preside at the Wednesday morning, April 3rd session, while members of the All-We-Je Club, with Mrs. Cecelia Moran as president, will be hostesses for the 9:45 coffee hour.

Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president of the Board of Directors of the YWCA, will speak briefly to bring this very well attended series to a close.

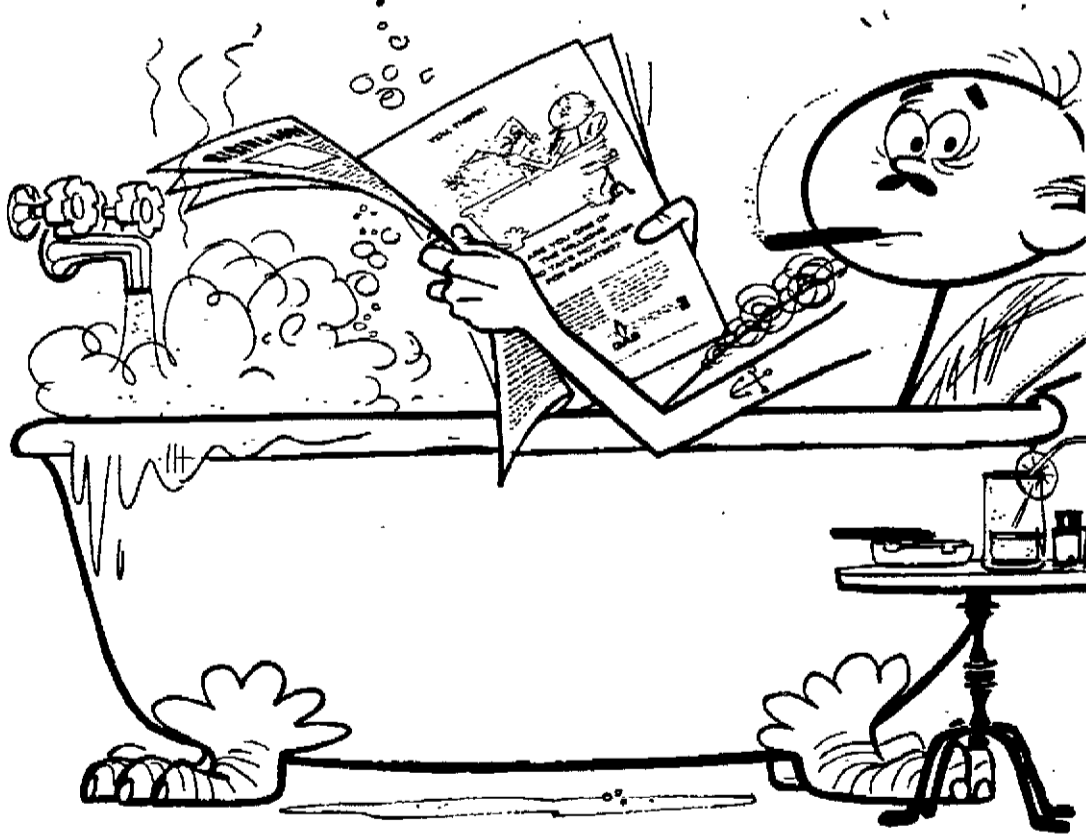

As usual, free baby sitting service will be available to mothers wishing to attend this inspirational hour, and all women of the community are welcome.

Last January we had a little boy. The girl is so jealous of the baby I am afraid one day she may do him serious harm. Both my wife and I have attempted to give her more attention than ever before, but she refuses to let us be nice to her. The girl is a very poor eater, has nightmares, does miserably in school and cannot get along with other children. Please tell us how to deal with this child.—DEFEATED DAD

Dear Dad: I cannot tell you in one paragraph how to convert a disturbed youngster into a happy, well-adjusted human being. Obviously she has been maladjusted since early childhood. Call the Family Service Association and make an appointment to see a counselor. The girl's "meanness and spitefulness" are symptoms of a deeper problem.

YOU, THERE!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO TAKE HOT WATER FOR GRANTED?

Good. Nowadays, people really should take their hot water for granted. And the millions who rely on dependable, economical Gas water heaters do. That's because a modern, family-rated Gas water heater delivers all the hot water a modern family needs. And it does it at a fraction of the cost of heating water electrically.

If all you want from a water heater is hot water—as much as you need, when you need it, and for the least amount of money—insist on a Gas water heater.

And then forget it.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE. GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE.

Cast Announced For WAHS June Date April Musical Presentation Is Named

Directors Miss Sandra Ryan, Mr. Carroll Fowler, and Mr. Daniel Harpster have announced the cast for the all-school show The Sound of Music to be presented on April 25, 26, and 27 in the Warren Area High School Auditorium.

"COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE"

WHERE YOU BUY, you'll often hear it said, is just as important as what you buy. That truism is fairly obvious in the purchase of, say, an automobile or a major home appliance, when after-sale service is extremely important.

But this common sense saying is equally true when it comes to buying home furnishings. After-sale service is not so vital, though you want to deal with a firm which stands behind the merchandise it sells. But there are other factors.

Selection is one. Within the wide area of good taste in interior decoration, there is plenty of room for individual preferences and family needs. You may want furniture small-scaled for smaller rooms. You may be looking for an individual piece of a particular style and color to blend with existing furniture. A sofa may have to fit a limited wall space. A lamp may need to be tall enough for balance with other pieces.

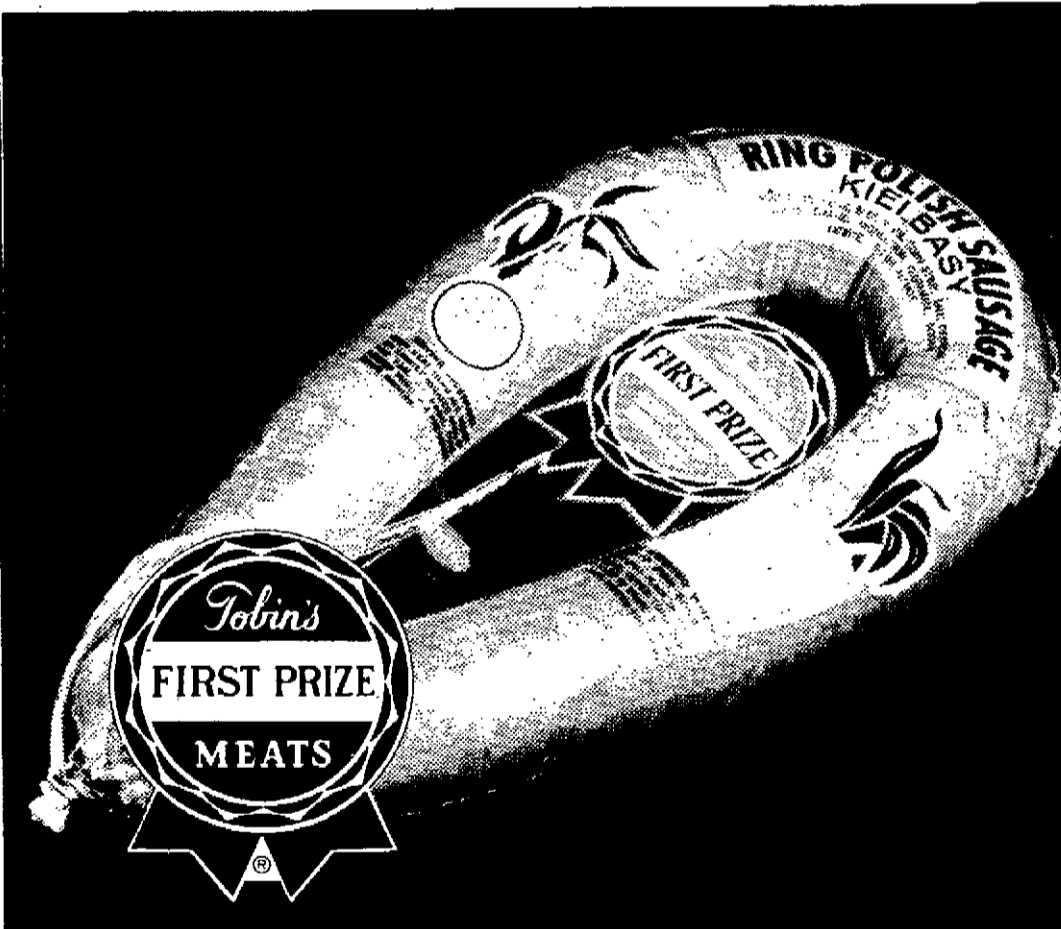

Quality is another consideration. Fine name manufacturers are your assurance of the hidden values of quality construction and expert finishing... adding up to lasting value.

You'll find a superb selection of quality furnishings, in our showroom... and in addition, you'll find courteous, helpful service. You don't buy good furniture every day, and we will be glad to help you choose the right pieces.

Susan Shaver Planning Fall Wedding

SUSAN DIANE SHAVER

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaver of 20 N. Main street, Clarendon, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Susan Diane, to Shannon Littlefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Littlefield of Tiona.

Miss Shaver is a 1967 graduate of Warren Area High School and is now employed by the New Process Company in Warren. Her fiancé will graduate from Warren Area High School with the Class of 1968, and is presently employed by Wire Metal Specialties Corp. in Warren.

A fall wedding is being planned.

WINDOW CLEANING HINT

Here's a hint for window washing, always a spring cleaning necessity. To avoid streaks, wash one side of the window with a horizontal motion and the other side with a vertical motion. If there's a streak you'll know where it is. To make window washing easier, new Kleen-Ups disposable window cleaners produce lint-free, clean windows. Just wet the cleaner, wash the window, then dry with paper towels.

Jeanne Carol King Weds In Greenville, Pa., Church

Jeanne Carol King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. King of RD No. 5, Greenville, formerly of Warren, became the bride of Arden E. Gilson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arden E. Gilson of RD No. 2, Pulaski, Penna., on Saturday, March 23, in the Greenville Methodist Church. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Smucker, read the double ring wedding rites in the presence of one hundred wedding guests.

Altar decorations included arrangements of yellow mums, candelabra with lighted tapers; wedding music was provided by Mrs. Julius Paukov at the organ and Miss Sharon Rieder, soloist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a long gown of Chantilly lace in an a-line silhouette with empire bodice; elbow length bell sleeves, scoop neckline. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion descended from a cabbage rose headdress of silk organza and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible upon which rested white roses with streamers of roses and Stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. David Cave of Sharon, sister of the groom; the maid of honor, Miss Susan King of Wollaston, Mass., sister of the bride; and bridesmaid Miss Nora Meachan of Greenville, all were in street length gowns of yellow crystal silk and had Dior bow headdresses. Each carried a single rose. The flower girl, Mistress Katrina McAllaster of Warren, cousin of the bride wore a costume of similar style and carried a basket of yellow flowers. The ring bearer was Master Douglas McAllaster of Warren, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Thomas Gilson, cousin of the groom and ushers were David Cave, his brother-in-law, and Keith Gilson, his cousin, all of Sharon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. King wore a three-piece suit of turquoise, beige accessories, and a yellow rose corsage. Mrs. Gilson, mother of the groom, chose a three-piece suit of shocking pink with black accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Andrew Sorensen of Warren, grandmother, was remembered with a corsage of yellow carnations.

A reception in the Greenville American Legion Hall followed. Aides were Mrs. Roger Sorensen, Miss Gert Blum, Mrs. Kenneth Sorensen, and Miss Lynda Perschke who managed the guest book.

For their wedding trip, the new Mrs. Gilson traveled in a turquoise suit print coat and dress ensemble and black accessories. Since their return, they are residing at 679 Spruce street, Sharon, Penna.

Mr. Gilson had served three years in the United States Navy.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. David Cave, Miss Lynda Perschke and Mrs. Edice Perschke; Mrs. Kenneth Sorensen and Mrs. Lawrence Gilford. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mrs. Arden Gilson at her home.

Out of town guests attended from Warren, Erie, New Castle, Portersville, Waynesboro, Sharon, West Middlessex, Penna.; and, Rochester, N. Y., Boston, Mass.

SAVE IRONING TIME

Use spray sizing on dry fabrics as a sprinkling agent and save the extra time that you would normally spend dampening clothes.

Use the sizing as you iron, spraying a fine mist from side to side on the material. For extra body, respray and iron again.

A special lubricant in spray sizing helps speed the iron over the fabric, reducing actual ironing time.

More men than women in the United States are considerably overweight

Opening lead: King of ♦
The abundance of material wealth bestowed by nature on West apparently lulled the latter into a false sense of security in defending against South's doubled four-spade contract. A careless lapse at the opening gun led to a surprise verdict for the declarer.

North's opening bid of four hearts is based on a hand that would normally rate to produce eight tricks. West was dealt a powerhouse, but the preemptive call forced him to settle for whatever penalty was available. South's eventual runout to four spades was a calculated risk which we are not inclined to recommend. When partner opens with a preempt, it does not usually pay to act the part of a nursemaid, particularly with a broken suit. Observe that North can always win eight tricks at a heart contract.

West opened the king of diamonds and East signaled encouragingly with the eight. West continued with the ace of diamonds and declarer trumped in his hand. The ace of clubs followed by a club ruff provided South with access to the dummy, so that he could discard two more clubs on the ace and king of hearts.

The closed hand was reentered by ruffing a diamond, and declarer proceeded to drive out the ace and queen of spades — eventually drawing West's last trump with the ten. Inasmuch as West's king-queen of clubs had made their appearance on the first two rounds of that suit, South was able to cash the game-fulfilling trick with the jack of clubs.

West's diamond continuation at trick two cost the defense three tricks, for it not only permitted declarer to trump a club loser but enabled him also to utilize dummy's ace-king of hearts which would otherwise have gone to waste inasmuch as South had no other entry to the North hand.

West should have been aware of the threat presented by North's singleton club. He could easily have countered this menace by switching to the ace of spades at trick two, to remove the dummy's trump. Observe that he surrenders nothing in the process, for his queen of spades is still guarded. West may now switch back to diamonds, if he chooses, and declarer is obliged to play the remainder of the deal from his own hand. He must lose — in all — two spades, one diamond, and three clubs for a 500-point deficit.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1968.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—There may be a tendency to retreat from reality, and do so mostly thinking of, and looking to, the past. Other tendencies are pretending and heeding false appearances. Day aisk caution: Be wary.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Venus, in generally friendly position, encourage your talents and know-how. Especially favored: Artistic matters, home and outdoor interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Make no changes in matters now producing good results, but DO accept changes that benefit the many and complete the total picture. Forward—with understanding and tact!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Be thankful for small favors and your attitude will rub off on all to your betterment and everyone's pleasure. A good day all around!

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Enthusiasm must be properly channeled to be effective. Do not go to extremes on this generally stimulating day.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—If your motives are strictly aboveboard, you will enjoy this challenging but stimulating day. Be careful of your conduct; be compassionate with others.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Especially favored now: Hotel- and shop-keepers, attendants, secretaries, organization heads, lawyers, chemists, teachers, students, parents. A good time to speculate—but with restraint.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—You will accomplish more by pitching in with verve instead of standing irresolute between conflicting ideas. This is not a time for reverie, daydreaming, aspiring to the impractical.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—If you are a spokesman for anyone or anything, make certain you have all the facts and are assembling and imparting them conscientiously. But do not overtax yourself.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Heed good suggestions, weigh all offerings; know when to accept and when to refuse. If you have any original ideas, do not hesitate to express them.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—It is the steady pace that will count when you are out to accumulate substantial reserves or resources. You can achieve much through your original ideas.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Control emotions, desire for luxuries. Don't shift from one plan or activity to another without reason. Don't make promises you cannot keep and do not aim for the unreasonable!

YOU BORN TODAY are a native of Aries, a fast-thinking usually quick-acting sign that produces highly original people, clever experimenters, doctors, novelists, musicians. Intense loyalty and a striving for top success are innate. You often overcome seemingly impossible obstacles and opposition because you believe in your goals and have courage, stamina. You feel unhappy at times at others' lack of understanding and reactions to your efforts. Overcome this. Make friends among happy-thinking, forward-looking people; forget dissenters, pessimists. Birthdate of: Hans Christian Andersen, Danish poet, fabulist; Charlemagne, Roman Emperor and King Franks.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PEPTIC ULCERS
Ulcers continue to be a medical mystery. They develop in animals and man during stressful situations, possibly because resentment and anger increase the secretion of gastric juice and cause stronger contractions. Emotional upsets do the same to those who do not have ulcers, but to a lesser extent. Heredity, diet and environment also play a role.

A peptic ulcer is a small, shallow crater in the stomach or in the beginning of the small intestine (duodenum). It begins as a small break in the lining which from then on is irritated by gastric acids. Lesions may be tiny as a pinhead or large as a half dollar.

An active ulcer usually is painful but the complications are feared most. The crater, for example, may eat into a blood vessel leading to a hemorrhage into the gastrointestinal tract. Occasionally this is the first symptom. The victim passes tarry stools, vomits blood, or faints due to anemia caused by blood loss. The ulcer may perforate the wall of the duodenum or stomach leading to peritonitis. This is very painful and emergency surgery may be needed to save life.

Recurrences of duodenal ulcer may lead to inflammation and scarring that blocks the exit (pylorus) of the stomach. When digesting food cannot pass into the intestine, surgery is needed to remove or bypass the thickened valve.

Active ulcers are treated with frequent, small meals of milk and cream along with drugs that neutralize the acidity. Products to quiet the stomach and restrict the acid-secreting glands also are used. Healing takes from six to eight weeks but unless emotions are controlled, recurrences are inevitable.

TOMORROW: Aging—Changing Process

WAKENED BY HAND PAIN
D. T. writes: What would cause my wife to awaken at night with pain in her fingers?
REPLY
She may have a carpal tunnel syndrome, in which the pain stems from a compression of a hand nerve as it passes thru the wrist. Relief may be obtained by putting the wrist and hand in a cast. And, if this fails, surgery leads to a cure. Pressure on the nerves where they emerge from the upper spine or where they pass thru the neck may cause such pain.

BRIEF LOSS OF SPEECH
M. A. L. writes: A dear friend temporarily lost the ability to speak. This episode lasted for five hours, during which time he had no pain. Last week he suffered a similar attack. What causes temporary loss of speech?
REPLY
Speech loss may be due to a minor stroke or to hysteria. The condition is serious enough to warrant a complete physical examination.

EATS CIGARET ASHES
A reader writes: I was wondering if eating cigaret ashes over a long period of time could cause an illness?
REPLY
This is doubtful. Most of the harmful elements are in the smoke and ashes are merely an innocuous residue that is not digested. Pica is the medical term for eating strange items such as dirt, cigaret butts, chalk, etc.

Cadillac

Standard of the World

GM

Front to rear 1968 Hardtop Sedan deVillie, 1967 Fleetwood Eldorado, 1966 Coupe deVillie, 1965 deVillie Convertible

Your choice of Cadillacs gets better every year.

If you desire the ultimate in elegance, comfort and driving pleasure, then the 1968
Cadillac deserves your first consideration.
It features a totally new 472 V 8 engine—the largest V-8 available in any production passenger car.

If you are not quite ready for a new Cadillac, you'll find that a previously owned Cadillac will prove to be a highly rewarding investment. Late-model Cadillacs offer more luxurious interiors and more driving conveniences than you'll find on most new cars. The superb craftsmanship and advanced engineering of every Cadillac will keep the one you buy up-to-date for years to come.

Ask your authorized dealer to help you select the Cadillac that suits you best.

See your authorized Cadillac dealer's attractive selection of new and used Cadillacs today.

Four Gals and Aussie Join Pro Tennis Ranks

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Billie Jean King, the world's No. 1 ranking women's tennis player, turned professional Monday along with three other gals and Australia's Roy Emerson.

Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif., could earn up to $70,000 in her first year of play-for-pay, the tour president estimated, while Emerson could make $100,000 for each of the two years he is under contract.

Also signing with the National Tennis League, headed by former Davis Cup captain George McCall, were Ann Haydon Jones of England, Francoise Durr of France and Rosemary Casals, 19-year-old star from San Francisco.

"A great deal for me and a great deal for tennis," declared Mrs. King, a 24-year-old who has won or shared a dozen United States championships. "I have always wanted to be a pro."

KING

In this country, if you're a pro, you're somebody. If you're an amateur, you're nobody."

MacCall didn't announce the exact figures of the contracts but said Emerson was guaranteed about $75,000, Mrs. King between $40,000 and $50,000 and the other three women in the $25,000-$30,000 neighborhood.

The new professional group which already had included Ron Laver, Ken Rosewall, Fred Stolle, Andres Gimeno and Pancho Gonzalez, makes its American debut at the forum in Inglewood on Sunday.

MacCall said the pros will compete in the open tournaments at both Bournemouth and Wimbledon in England, and he hopes to have them compete in others.

"We are scheduled solidly through the middle of August," he declared.

The professionals in the National Tennis League will play the best two of three sets under regular rules.

British Tennis Officials Accused of Retreating

LONDON (AP) — Tennis officials in the provinces bitterly accused Britain's top officials Monday of retreating on the question of open tournaments.

British delegates won approval for open tennis at a special meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Paris over the week-end.

But the British, who previously had declared their intention of abolishing all distinctions between professionals and amateurs, compromised and were restricted to three open events this year in addition to Wimbledon.

Organizers of three other tournaments, who had expected to run their events on open lines, complained they had been let down.

Peter Davies, secretary of the North of England Tournament which is played at Manchester in June, said: "We are disappointed that Britain has compromised almost to the point of complete negation of the freedom we sought as a national body."

Mrs. Hilda Smith, secretary of the Bristol Tennis Club which runs the West of England Championships, said: "We are extremely surprised and feel we have been let down."

John White, secretary of the Hoylake tournament, said: "If it goes on like this the whole circuit could be a chaotic shambles. It should have been all open or nothing."

Jim Manning, columnist of the Daily Mail, reported the Paris talks under the headline "Tennis Sell-Out."

Britain was nominally suspended three months ago after saying it would tear up the ILTF rules and admit professionals to all tournaments.

The compromise was to prevent a break-up of the ILTF. But officials of the British Lawn Tennis Association contended they had gained a victory — even though they had agreed to a limit on the number of open tournaments.

The ILTF wants to limit open events, apparently because it fears professional promoters might have too much say in running the world game.

There were some doubts in other countries, too.

Owen Williams, director of the South African Championships, said the ILTF vote was a step in the right direction, but added: "I would want to know the full implications before saying it is entirely satisfactory."

Henk Van Hoeghe, secretary of the Netherlands Lawn Tennis Association, said he was disappointed a compromise had been made.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Joe Lahoud, a young left-handed slugger with less than two full seasons of experience with Winston-Salem in the Class A Carolina League, is getting another trial with the Boston Red Sox.

Lahoud, who was among the first players cut by the Red Sox March 21, was recalled in a surprise move by Manager Dick Williams Sunday from the Louisville farm of the International League.

"The outfield needs to be beefed up," Williams said when asked if Lahoud's recall was prompted by Tony Conigliaro's disappointing performance in rebounding from a serious eye injury suffered last August.

Lahoud showed tremendous power in training camp before being cut by the Red Sox. He will not be 20 until April 14 and has been rejected by the Army because of flat feet.

"He will be given a full chance," Williams said. "I like what I saw of him very much. His speed is deceptive. He's much faster than he looks. He has a fine arm and has shown a good bat for a young player."

Although he suffered a hair-line fracture of his right leg last year, Lahoud hit .287 with 16 homers for Winston-Salem. Major league managers such as Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals and Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers were impressed by the way he attacked the ball in appearances this spring.

Lahoud popped up in a pinch-batting appearance Sunday as the Red Sox dropped a 3-2 decision to the Minnesota Twins in 12 innings at Orlando.

Conigliaro, who struck out four times Saturday in hiking his number of whiffs to 18 in 60 times at bat, did not make the trip to Orlando. The Red Sox said he was confined to his room because of a sore throat.

To make room for Lahoud, the Red Sox shipped outfielder George Spriggs to Louisville.

'Long' Hockey Playoffs Start This Thursday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Hockey League's long series of playoffs opens on four fronts Thursday. They'll stretch into May.

But just when the second games will be played, no one knows.

In the old, East Division, Boston is at Montreal and Chicago at New York in the opening games of the best-of-7 semifinal division series.

In the expansionist West Division, completing its first year of competition, St. Louis is at Philadelphia and Minnesota at Los Angeles.

Second games in all the series will be played in the same cities. But whether they'll be Friday, Saturday or Sunday has not yet been announced.

The third and fourth games will be played in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Minnesota with the fifth, sixth and seventh games alternating on a game by game basis.

Winners of the division semifinals then meet in a best-of-7 division final, with the division winners then playing another best-of-7 set.

Pagan's hit in the eighth scored Manny Jimenez, who got aboard on a force play and moved to third on Donn Clendenon's single. Jimenez clobbered a 400-foot homer in the third, driving in two runs and giving Pittsburgh a 3-0 lead.

The Mets scored all their runs off Juan Pizarro. They got one in the fifth on Art Shamsky's single and a double by Ed Charles. In the sixth, consecutive triples by Ron Swoboda and Amos Otis and Shamsky's sacrifice fly produced two more runs.

Rookie Bob Moose was the winner. He pitched the last three innings and was touched for one hit.

Boaters Can Get Temporary Certificates

Warren County Treasurer Florence Hoffman is issuing temporary certificates for motorboats, which permit the holder to operate his boat until the regular license comes from Harrisburg.

Fee for licenses for boats up to 16 feet is $4.25. For boats 16 feet and over the fee is $6.25.

Temporary certificate is good for 30 days, allowing ample time for license to be processed in Harrisburg and received by the boat owner.

The treasurer's office is also doing a lively business issuing fishing licenses, in anticipation of the opening of the trout fishing season at 5 a.m. April 13.

SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

"Young" Nick Creola was caught by TMO cameraman Gordon Mahan last night keeping in year-round physical shape like father Nick "senior." Young Nick, coach of the Sheffield High School basketball team and former Warren Area

High School player, lifts weights at the local YMCA three nights a week. It is reported he is interested in helping to start a formal weight lifting class at the "Y".

Entry List Grows For Annual Indianapolis '500' Speed Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Five entries today, including new cars for John Surtees of England and Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., increased the official list to 39 for the 52nd running of the annual 500-Mile Race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30.

Unser, who finished second for the same sponsor in last year's "500," will be in the cockpit of the Retzlaff Chemical Special. He is a veteran of three previous Indianapolis races.

Surtees, a former Grand Prix champion seeking a starting position here for the first time, will be at the wheel of a Bowes Seal Fast Special.

Each of them will have a new chassis designed by Lola Cars, Ltd. of England for either four-wheel-drive or rear-wheel-drive operation. The cars will be powered by 168-cubic-inch turbocharged Ford engines and George Bignotti will be the crew chief.

In addition to gaining runner-up honors at "Indy" last year, Unser placed second in four other USAC championship races and earned enough points during the season for fifth place in the 1967 drivers' standing.

He also started the 1968 campaign with a second-place finish in the 200-mile opener on March 17 at Hanford, Cal.

Surtees, who won international fame in motorcycle races during the 1950s, has been a regular on the Grand Prix circuit for seven years. He won the world's formula 1 title in 1964 as a member of the Ferrari factory team and his record last season included a victory for Honda in the Italian Grand Prix.

He is very much aware of the challenge which the Indianapolis track offers because it was possible for him to drive several laps here during Firestone tire tests last November.

The other three entries today, still without drivers, came from Racing Associates of Indianapolis.

dianapolis and W and W Enterprises of Utica, Mich.

Herb Porter will be the chief mechanic for the Racing Associates Special, which will be powered by a turbocharged Offenhauser engine.

Wally Meskowski will be the crew chief for the two Weinberger Homes Specials owned by W and W Enterprises. He plans to use a 255-cubic-inch Ford engine in one car and a turbocharged "Offy" unit in the other.

Additional entries will be accepted by Speedway President Tony Hulman until midnight of April 15.

Some Chinks Seen In Giants' Armor

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — You have to look hard to find chinks in the San Francisco Giants' armor, but they are there.

Except for getting in shape, spring training and its necessary exhibition games mean nothing, contends Manager Herman Franks.

Yet the Giants were worried enough about first baseman Willie McCovey's lack of hitting to send him to a hospital for a checkup.

McCovey, who hit .276 with 31 home runs and 91 runs batted in last year, had only one extra base hit, a double, in the first 10 exhibition games.

"He's not getting his bat out in front," said hitting coach Hank Sauer.

Jack Hatt, a .275 hitter while playing most of his 73 games as a catcher last year, and Ty Cline, .270 in 64 games as an outfielder, have played first in spring training.

Besides McCovey, the only left-handed hitters are Cline and rookies Ken Henderson, Don Mason and Bob Schroder. Henderson and Mason are expected to start the season at Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League.

Ron Hunt, acquired from Los Angeles, and shortstop Hal Lanier, will give the Giants a solid double play combination.

The Giants gave up long ball hitting catcher Tom Haller for Hunt and infielder Nate Oliver.

Dick Dietz, who hit .225 in 56 games for the Giants last year, is regarded as most likely to catch the opening game. He and Bob Barton, who hit .293 in 103 games for Tacoma, Wash., of the PCL last year, have hit well this spring.

Bob Etheridge, 25, is making a strong bid for third base. Etheridge hit .325 in 91 games last season for Phoenix.

He is good insurance in case Jim Davenport can't go the full season at third.

The outfield is set with Jim Ray Hart, .289 with 29 homers last year, in left; Willie Mays in center; and Jesus Alou, the Giants' leading hitter at .292, in right.

Ollie Brown, .267 in 120 games last year, is the fourth outfielder.

Mays, who had his poorest season at .263 with 22 homers, says he is fit and ready to play.

It is believed the Giants will go into opening day with nine pitchers and eight already have clinched jobs: Juan Marichal, Ray Sadecki, Mike McCormick, Ron Herbel, Bob Bolin, Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon and Frank Linzy.

That leaves veterans Bill Henry and Lindy McDaniel among others, fighting for one job.

No. Warren Trims Jefferson, 33-12

The North Warren cagers triumphed last night in Gra-Y Basketball action as they dumped Jefferson 33-12. Mike Waite and Tim Zdarko teamed up to score a total of 29 points, Waite with 15 and Zdarko with 14, leading the North Warren victory.

High for the losers was Pat Hesch, who dumped four points for Jefferson against the rough North Warren squad.

Locals Win Penn-York Trap Loop

The Penn-York Trap League completed the 1968 winter season Sunday at Brokenstraw Fish & Game Club, finding Kalfus walking away with the team trophy on 2,313 points. Ending up in second place was the Carroll (N.Y.) Club totaling 2,242, 71 points away from the Kalfus total.

High Shooter trophies went to Bert Peterson, hitting at 46.7 for first place honors and Tom Font, shooting a 46.6 for second place.

OUTDOORS

by Don Neal

POW.....WOW!

P--O--W is the word for it. When I got back Sunday from the Pennsylvania Outdoor Writers meeting in State College I made the crack that I felt as though I had just returned from being a delegate in the Republican national convention. Wheelin', dealin', and motel rooms so filled with cigar smoke you could slice it with a knife hadn't left me in either the mental or physical condition one normally associates with activities anyway related to the outdoors. But the results of my efforts had been -- - WOW!

I had a real interesting session with Keen Buss, chief biologist of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, concerning my immediate pet project of getting year around fishing from the Glade Bridge to the Kinzua Dam. While I can't say Keen was highly enthusiastic about the suggestion, I can say that I found him far more reasonable than I had expected. Given a little time to think the matter over, and with a few concessions on the more controversial points thrown in, I think he may be the key to getting the project approved.

But the big point of our talk centered on the need for a far closer study of the river below the dam now that we have "controlled" water levels and I was pleased to learn that Keen is already trying to justify placing a fulltime biologist on the Allegheny. He feels (and I wholeheartedly agree) that with the river passing through a transitional period it is only practical to keep it under continuous study until we establish just what is happening to the various species.

To heighten the political aspects of the meeting, I found myself at the Saturday luncheon seated at what might have been termed "the Harrisburg table." Of the eight of us, three were assemblymen serving as chairmen of House committees (oriented to conservation), one a representative of Governor Shafer, and another was the director of river basin control agency. It seems that a forum on water quality control had been held in State College on Friday and these men had stayed over to attend the Outdoor Writers meeting. If you don't think pollution was the chief topic of the conversation at that table your judgement is slipping.

In fact, I was presented with a 72-page booklet by the Governor's representative ("Penn State Studies") just to bring me up to date on what the researchers have learned recently about the subject. It's a darned interesting booklet and I'll be reporting on it before too long.

Right after the luncheon, I remember that I talked with Tom Egger, editor of the Pennsylvania ANGLER, and suggested he could use more stories in his magazine about the fishing in Kinzua Country. Tom made a rather pertinent suggestion --- that if I would write them he'd be glad to look them over. I was out ahead of him on this one, though, for I had already arranged with Jim Bashline to do a couple that I thought had possibilities. But if Jim does them I doubt that Tom will have a chance to look them over --- Bashline is assistant editor of Field and Stream.

But I do have a couple of historical "gems" I am going to do and send along to Tom as soon as I get time. He says he likes this type of thing and I enjoy doing them.

But the big news so far as Warren County is concerned is the fact that the membership, at the afternoon meeting, voted overwhelmingly to come to Warren in October. Some of the boys from Down East had wanted to put off the Warren invitation until next spring as most of this years workshops are being held in the western part of the state. But when the "hands" were counted, I think there were as many from that part of the state as from the central and western sections.

"Why wouldn't we want to come to Warren County any time we're asked?" a member's wife asked. "Everyone says that the one they had up there was the best in several years. Jim (Bashline) and I couldn't make it then, but we'll be there with bells on this time."

Several other members and their wives mentioned the great time they had on the last Warren visit. Although many items on that program were mentioned, the pancake breakfast served in Crescent Park by the Warren Field and Stream Club got the most mention.

Winner of the "King of Scandia Mountains" door prize, offered by the Scandia Mountains Association, was won by Charlie Noll of South Williamsport. This should be a break for the Scandia boys for Charlie is one of the most respected professionals in the documentary movie field. When I asked him what type of entertainment he'd be most interested in, he replied "Entertainment? --- I'm coming up there to take pictures. Just show me the kind of country you've been talking about and I'll be satisfied."

Bob Holmes, possibly the latest entrant to the outdoor writing field, was accepted for membership in the POWA on the recommendation of Bob Parlaman and Thad Bukowski.

Don Neal, TMO Columnist, To Serve on School Panel

Don Neal, TMO outdoor writer and columnist, has accepted an invitation from the Pennsylvania Game Commission to serve on a panel at the Ross Leffler School of Conservation in August of this year.

In extending the invitation, Roy W. Trexler, chief, Division of Information and Education, said, "As part of the course of instruction given to student officers currently enrolled at the school, we want them to be aware of the news value through written releases. This information can best be presented by a panel of newsmen."

"The group will possibly include Roger Latham, Jimmy Jordan, Joe Pancoast and Ned Smith. Will it be possible for you to serve on the panel?"

The newspapers represented by the proposed panel members would be Pittsburgh Press (Latham), Pittsburgh Post-Gazette (Jordan), Philadelphia Bulletin (Pancoast), Pennsylvania Game News (Smith), and the Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Erie Times-News (Neal).

Three class periods will be devoted to the panel discussions according to Trexler.

Sold to Dodgers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Hank Aguirre, veteran Detroit Tigers' left-handed pitcher, was sold to the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday.

The Tigers will receive an undisclosed amount of cash and a minor league player to be named within 48 hours.

Aguirre, 35, will report at once to the Dodgers in Arizona where they are playing.

Aguirre, who was 0-1 last year, joined the Tigers in 1958. In his 10-year big league career he has won 70 and lost 70. His best year was 1962 when he was 16-8.

This spring he pitched in four games, giving up four runs and eight hits in 10 innings.

Narum Rebels

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Buster Narum, 27-year-old righthanded pitcher cut from the Chicago White Sox roster, rebelled Monday and said he would not report to a minor league club.

Narum was ticketed for Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

Correction

It's the Women's Golf Committee of Blueberry Hill Country Club that meets at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 4, at the Northwest Savings hospitality room, not the men's group.

Mickey Wright Back in Top Money Role

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mickey Wright is back in a familiar position—the leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament tour.

For a couple of years Miss Wright hasn't been playing the tournament tour regularly and Kathy Whitworth succeeded her as top money winner. But Miss Wright's victory Sunday in the Palm Beach County Open gave her two triumphs in the first three tournaments of the year and boosted her money winnings to $3,375.

She picked up $1,875 for winning at West Palm Beach. Close behind, however, is Sandra Haynie, who hasn't finished first yet this year but has picked up $3,325 by staying close.

Miss Whitworth has one tournament victory and has won $3,037 this far.

Torres Scores

TKO in Sixth

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Jose Torres, former world light-heavyweight champion from Puerto Rico, defeated Australia's Bobby Dunlop on a technical knockout Monday in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Torres weighed 175 pounds Dunlop 173½.

It was a fierce brawl from beginning to end, with Dunlop, British Empire champion, down on one knee in the second round when Torres cut loose with savage lefts and rights.

Torres landed mostly severe punches to the head, but he also dealt punishing blows to the body.

Cardinals Sign Dick Schofield

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Veteran utility infielder Dick Schofield, released by the Los Angeles Dodgers this year, was signed Monday to play with the St. Louis Cardinals.

A Redbird spokesman said Schofield's addition brings the club strength to 30. Five players will be pared from the list before the Cardinals leave their spring training camp.

Schofield played with the Cardinals in the mid 1950s. He has since played with Pittsburgh, the New York Yankees and the Dodgers.

Option Hurler

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates optioned pitcher Bruce Dal Canton to their Columbus, Ohio, farm Monday, bringing the club down to the 25-player limit.

Canton, who has been troubled for two weeks by a bad back, will report to Pittsburgh for a physical examination before going to Columbus.

Ice Blocks Road

Tons of ice came down on Route 59 Sunday from the cliff overlooking Kinzua Dam, blocking one side of the highway for some hours and slowing traffic. The ice, which has been accumulating all winter, smashed newly installed guard rails and ripped out a "no parking" sign.

Legislative Vote Record

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

H-1545 (passed) — Amend the "Vehicle Code" by providing procedure for approval for the erection of traffic signals when the Secretary of Highways fails to act. (Frame-Yes).

LBJ's Withdrawal May Ease Things in State

HARRISBURG (AP) — A number of Democrats said privately Monday that President Johnson's withdrawal from the 1968 election picture could make things easier for the party's legislative and statewide candidates in Pennsylvania.

Publicly, the reaction of both Democratic and Republican politicians was still one of utter amazement and shock. Privately, however, both sides conceded Johnson's withdrawal could well prove beneficial to local Democratic candidates since it removes the focal point of the widespread disenchantment with the President's Vietnam policy.

One Democrat, who understandably preferred to remain anonymous, said candidly: "This should make things a lot easier for our legislative and statewide candidates. Frankly, we were worried that people who voted against Johnson because of Vietnam would as a matter of course vote against our local candidates also."

"To the extent that the President himself will no longer be an issue, his announcement should prove helpful."

A knowledgeable Republican also commented privately: "There is no question the Democrats had serious problems with Johnson at the top of the ticket. Our sounding indicated that he was in deep trouble in Pennsylvania."

"I believe this will certainly cause the Republican Party nationally to privately re-examine its position. To be honest, there is no great enthusiasm here for Mr. Nixon."

For the record, party leaders on both sides said it was much too early to accurately assess the impact of Johnson's withdrawal.

Gov. Shafer predicted it would have an unsettling effect on both parties nationally.

If nothing else, Shafer said in a statement, it reaffirmed his judgment that the race to the Republican nomination was still a wide-open affair and that the Pennsylvania GOP should remain uncommitted.

On the Democratic side, Shafer saw a three-way fight between Sens. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Robert F. Kennedy of New York and "probably," Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

While Shafer said it was impossible at this point to determine how Nixon's candidacy might be affected — "He still is the only serious (Republican) candidate," the governor said — he again predicted that Nixon could win Pennsylvania, regardless of his Democratic opponent.

One Democratic party official said the state committee, which had repeatedly gone on record backing a Johnson-Humphrey ticket for re-election, would undoubtedly have to meet again to review its position.

Two of the party's statewide candidates, former State Sen. Robert P. Casey and Auditor Gen. Grace M. Sloan, said they were completely caught off guard by the startling announcement.

"Initially, I would guess both parties will now be starting fresh," said Casey, who is opposed in the April 23 primary for the party's nomination as auditor general.

"Certainly, the Republican Party is going to have to reassess its strategy since it no longer has a target to campaign against."

Mrs. Sloan, running for state treasurer, said she would have been delighted to run with Johnson.

"I think he's done an excellent job," she commented. However, she added that his withdrawal may help to close the Democratic split which has developed over Vietnam.

Mrs. Sloan said she did not believe her campaign would be materially affected, regardless of whom the Democratic nominee might be. Pennsylvanians were still numb Monday over President Johnson's "completely irrevocable" decision against seeking the presidency again.

Most of those who commented used the word "shock" to describe their reaction. And whatever their party, all hailed Johnson as an American who forsook personal ambition for the good of his country.

Though the announcement came on the eve of April Fool's Day, it was no joke.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Pennsylvania's national committeewoman, quickly accepted Johnson's decision. She announced she would support Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic nomination at the August convention in Chicago.

The state's national committeeman, Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh, said he was surprised but couldn't look ahead so quickly. He indicated it would take some time to assess the party's political picture and declined to jump on the bandwagon of any candidate, announced or otherwise.

Mayor James H. Tate of Philadelphia, who like Barr received a telephone call from a White House aide during the President's speech but before the no-run bombshell was uttered, said it came as "a complete shock."

Tate has been one of Johnson's steadfast supporters. When New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy decided to challenge the president for the nomination, Tate labeled him a "wise guy" who displayed party disloyalty.
